'WE'RE VIGILANT, NOT VIGILANTE'

Resident 'patrol' group aims to safeguard village

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@findlenews.co.uk

A DUSK-TIL-DAWN 'village guard' is patrolling Hawkchurch overnight, set up by worried residents.

After a spate of burglaries in early December, four concerned residents got together to set up the patrols for observations to be made and to pass on relevant information to police.

In only a short space of time, Hawkchurch 999 has grown in popularity and now has 34 volunteers — of both sexes and with an age range from 30s-70s — who help patrol the area on a rota basis seven nights a week.

Both Axminster police and Hawkchurch 999 members are keen to stress that the initiative should not be confused with a group of vigilantes.

PC Darren Herridge said: "They have been given strict guidance on how they should go about it. They do nothing more or less than any member of the public can do to protect their property. It has been useful. Since they became active, crime has dropped right off in Hawkchurch."

Hawkchurch 999 members are reluctant to have their names in print, but are happy to talk about the initiative.

The group spokesperson said: "We are vigilant, not vigilante. We avoid confrontation and don't put ourselves in danger. Equipped with walkie-talkies, high-visibility clothing and powerful torches, the group has created a good community spirit to look after the village and its residents."

In short, patrols cruise the area at night in 4x4 vehicles or on foot — and report anything suspicious to police.

The aim is to act as a deterrent and discourage criminal activity such as burglary.

The spokesperson said: "This is no criticism of police, but they can't be everywhere."

Working closely with both the Neighbourhood Watch and the local police, Hawkchurch 999 is the part that was missing — feet on the streets."

As an added bonus, patrols came to the aid of struggling people during the recent spell of bad weather. Two cars stuck in snow were pulled clear and a couple, whose car had broken down, were given a lift home to Axminster.

The spokesperson said: "We welcome contact from any of the surrounding villages that wish to adopt this model."

Those interested should email Hawkchurch999@btinternet.com for more information.

Police stage 'discussion' public meet

DEVON and Cornwall Police Authority is to stage a public liaison meeting in Axminster later this month.

The date is Thursday, February 25 and the venue is the Guildhall, with a 7.30pm start.

A spokesperson for the authority said: "Come along and discuss any policing issues, questions are welcome."

"The meeting will include a police report on Axminster and surrounding areas."

Four horses return home after escape

FOUR horses were returned home without incident after they escaped in the early hours of Saturday, January 30th.

Axminster police received a call at about 3.50am, being informed that the horses had been observed in or near the car park at Hunters Lodge Inn at the A35.

The horses were subsequently contained in a nearby field and collected by their owner.

Candidate's greet event

MEMBERS of the public can meet a prospective parliamentary candidate at a coffee morning in Hawkchurch.

The event is organised by Hawkchurch Liberal Democrats and will feature prospective parliamentary candidate Jon Underwood.

The coffee morning starts at 10.30am at 4 Cornmill Cottages.

Shelterbox tent display

A SHELTERBOX tent, of the type despatched to areas of natural disaster, will be erected and available for all to see on The Minster Green in Axminster.

The event has been organised by the Rotary Club of Axminster and the tent can be viewed from 9am-2pm on Thursday, February 4th.

Workshops to help parents' food planning

AN Axminster-based charity is preparing a programme of cookery workshops to be staged in and around the town this year.

Health and Local Food for Families (HALFF) was set up in 2006 by a group of mothers and local healthworkers who felt that many parents did not feel confident about what food to feed their children, nor how to prepare healthy food.

HALFF member Tiggy Parry said: "Help is at hand for Axminster families when it comes to making their children's lunchboxes."

"Clearly when faced with the morning rush to get everyone off to work and school, out of the door having had breakfast and dressed up warmly against the wintry weather, finding the time to prepare a nutritious lunchbox (or several) as well, can be a bit of a nightmare."

"But, most of the prep can be done in 10 or 15 minutes the night before."

"It will probably save you money and will definitely help you to provide the right things for your children to eat at lunchtime."

HALFF's main aims are:

- (i) To improve the health of families in East Devon, South Somerset and West Dorset, particularly (but not exclusively) by the provision of appropriate education on healthy eating.
- (ii) To improve knowledge of good quality local food producers and suppliers.
- (iii) To improve access to good quality food, local where possible.

HALFF has had support from the Big Lottery Fund, and will run a series of cookery workshops in various venues in and around Axminster throughout the year.

Dates and venues were not available at the time of going to press, but the information will be posted in due course online at www.halff.org.uk.

LOCALLY-INSPIRED GIRLS EXHIBIT ART

TWO students from the University of the West of England are exhibiting at the Arts Cafe in Axminster.

Alice Jones and Becky Diplock started their exhibition on February 1st, and it will remain until February 27th.

Both students are in their final year of a Drawing and Applied Arts degree in Bristol.

Alice and Becky grew up on the Jurassic Coast and have taken much inspiration from the local landscape.

After exhibiting in places as diverse as Bristol and Bergen, Norway, they are excited to be returning home.

Axminster Arts Café is in The Old Courthouse, Church Street, and is open from 9.30am-3pm (Monday to Friday) and 9.30am-2pm (Saturday).

Ticket launch for 'original' village panto

TICKETS for All Saints Pantomime Society's Aladdin production have gone on sale.

Society members have been busy rehearsing twice a week to make sure everything goes according to plan in All Saints Village Hall on February 4th, 5th and 6th.

A society spokesperson said: "This year Jo Ellis has written an original script loosely based around the well-known story.

"Some of the usual characters are included plus some new ones.

"The society has one or two new members this year and one of them, Douglas Bale, will be taking on the role of Aladdin.

"His mother Sawya Sorce (Christine Galvin) runs the local Chinese restaurant assisted by Aladdin's brother Hoisin (Jonathan Jones) and two Siamese waitresses — Wee-ping and Wai-ling (Hannah Galvin and Jane Pollard).

"Their names will give you a clue to the use of many tissues throughout the show

"The role of the 'baddie' Abanana Uptree is played by Mick Crook and the glamour is provided by Caroline Nunns and Gay Atkinson in the roles of Princess Jasmine and Kay-Ting respectively."

Tina Mackenny provides the music for some well known songs and, this year, the show is also directed by Jo Ellis.

All shows start at 7.45pm and tickets are available from Barbara on 01297 35687.

Ticket prices are £5 for adults and £2.50 for children on the Thursday and Friday.

All tickets are £5 for the Saturday show.

Mum and daughter get set for relief run

AN Axminster mother-and-daughter team is gearing up for a Sport Relief running challenge in Honiton.

Lucy and Bethany Stead, 11, will be on the starting line for the three-mile run on March 21st.

Both are confidently looking forward to the event despite Bethany's recent knee operation and Lucy's recent lack of exercise.

Bethany had an operation in November but is fully recovered and keeps fit by doing regular sports at Axe Vale Community College, including cross country running.

Lucy, a Pulman's View staff member, used to do "a bit of road running" and completed three-and-a-half miles in 33 minutes two years ago — but admits she hasn't been running very much of late. The pair are now on a regime of regular evening runs to make sure they are fully prepared for the race.

Lucy said: "We both saw the advert on the TV and thought it would be a great idea.

"I'm getting involved because Sport Relief brings the entire nation together to get active, raise cash and change lives.

"All the money raised is spent helping poor and disadvantaged people turn their lives around — in the UK as well as the world's poorest countries."

When asked if they would run together or if there would be a competition for family bragging rights, Lucy said: "I'm quite competitive. I'd like to think I'll keep my daughter with me, but I'm not sure what will happen on the day."

Bethany responded: "I will probably try to beat her."

They have set a total fundraising target of £100 and anyone wishing to sponsor them can go online at www.mysportrelief.com/lucystead.

NHS STARTS HPV CLINICS FOR TEENS

NHS Devon has started human papilloma virus (HPV) vaccination clinics at hospitals in Honiton and Axminster for girls aged 12-18.

The vaccine is given to prevent cervical cancer and the clinics are open to girls who have yet to begin or complete their HPV vaccination course.

An NHS Devon spokesperson said: "The HPV vaccination is generally given in schools, and consists of three injections that are given over a six-month period.

"However, NHS Devon is running clinics for girls who, for whatever reason, failed to get a vaccination in school."

Dr Virginia Pearson, director of public health for NHS Devon, added: "Cervical cancer is one of the biggest killers of women in their 30s, so I urge all girls to get protected at an early age."

All clinics are by appointment only. Contact NHS Devon's immunisation team on 01392 208 469 for more information or to make an appointment.

Councillor's Knowle car park fee call

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@indlenews.co.uk

A DISTRICT councillor is calling for car parking charges to be introduced at East Devon District Council (EDDC) headquarters at Knowle, Sidmouth.

Roger Giles, district councillor for Ottery St Mary, put the idea forward during a recent scrutiny committee meeting.

Speaking to the Pulman's View Mr Giles said: "EDDC is poised to agree substantial car parking charge increases (and substantial service cuts) for the next financial year. This will be very badly received because of its unpopularity with users, but there is also a real worry that this will have a damaging effect on the local economy."

Mr Giles claims that during a recent scrutiny meeting he pushed for parking charges to be introduced at Knowle but his move was thrown out by other councillors.

He said: "At a scrutiny meeting looking at budget cuts on Wednesday (January 27th) I asked that car parking charges be introduced at EDDC offices at Knowle. I was very disappointed that I received no support for this suggestion - when I moved this I could not even find a seconder."

"There are 200 spaces at Knowle, and they are generally pretty well all taken - visitors to Knowle will be aware of how difficult it is to find a parking space."

Mr Giles added that EDDC should follow the example set by Devon County Council (DCC) where they have recently introduced parking charges at County Hall, Exeter, for all users, including councillors.

He said: "If a modest 50p a day were to be charged, that would produce an annual income of something approaching £26,000. A £1 charge would generate close to £52,000."

"I do think that at a time when all councils are facing an extremely difficult financial situation, that every option should be looked at and implemented."

"Apart from improving the council's finances, this would represent fairness to people being asked to pay more to park in EDDC's public car parks."

"Many major employers do charge their staff to park, and have introduced green travel plans. DCC recently introduced car parking charges at County Hall for all users, including councillors: 50p for less well paid staff and £1 for better paid staff. It is working well, EDDC should have done likewise."

A spokesman for EDDC was unavailable for comment as this newspaper went to press.

Winners are announced

THE winners of the Christmas I-Spy competition held in Seaton have been announced.

The competition was organised by the Seaton and District Chamber of Commerce and involved a number of businesses in the town.

Joint winners were Bethany and Brianna Dean. In joint third place was Lewis Brown, Sam Herridge and Zoe Herridge. Sixth place was Hannah Gallienne and 7th place was Ben, Liam and Caroline Turley.

Chris Abbott, of Abbott's DIY and Seaton Chamber, said: "Congratulations to everybody, hope you all enjoyed the competition."

Worry over street lights

RESIDENTS and parish councillors in Chardstock are said to be concerned about street lights in the village apparently being turned off overnight.

During the January parish council meeting it was noted that some street lights in the Woodcock Way area of the village were not coming on at night or where being turned off at an earlier than usual time.

Parish clerk Jan Morse said she would make further enquiries and would report her findings at this month's meeting.

Countryside forum seeks members

DEVON Countryside Access Forum (DCAF) is seeking new members.

The statutory forum works to improve recreational access to the countryside and improve green space and provision for cycling and walking in the county's villages and towns.

DCAF is supported by Devon

County Council and has 15 volunteer members who meet four or five times a year.

Their task is to provide independent advice on issues covering not only recreation but also sustainable transport, health and tourism.

The closing date for candidates is Friday, February 26th — and more information as well as application forms are available online at www.devon.gov.uk/devon_countryside_access_forum.

Alternatively, contact the forum secretary on 01837 810921 or email devoncaf@devon.gov.uk.

The forum's next public meeting is on Tuesday, February 9th at 10am in County Hall, Exeter.

Extension to hall facilities are planned

FACILITIES at Uplyme Hall, Lyme Road, Uplyme, are set to be extended with additional storage space and infant toilets.

An application to create the much needed facilities was put forward by the Uplyme Hall trustees at the end of December last year and has since been given approval by East Devon District Council (EDDC).

Uplyme Parish Council gave the plan the thumbs up when they met in January.

Roger Hussey of John Stark and Crickmay Partnership, the agents acting on behalf of the hall trustees, said: "The hall is a much used community facility. Several groups, including Uplyme Pre School, have made the hall a more or less permanent home.

"Given the extent of use of the hall by pre school and toddler groups the building does lack easily supervisable infant type toilet facilities.

"It is proposed to construct an extension to the existing changing rooms to provide a larger and much needed store room for the pre school group."

A spokesman for EDDC said that the application could go ahead providing the materials used to create the extension match those of the existing building.

He added: "The proposal does not adversely affect the privacy or amenity of neighbouring properties, does not harm the natural beauty of the landscape designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and does not harm or give rise to a perceived threat from important trees on or adjacent to the site."

STUDENTS from Honiton and the surrounding area have all been awarded merits or distinctions in their recent ballet exams.

The 93 students from East Devon Dance School took the Royal Academy of Dance ballet exams in November last year and scored very highly, with one student getting 96 per cent.

East Devon Dance School co-owner Lucie Wellsman said: "All the students have done so well and I'm very proud.

"These exams are difficult and the students have worked really hard for their results."

Busy schedule means railcard times change

A BUSIER timetable is the reason why a Network Railcard can't be used until after 10am (Monday-Friday) when travelling from Axminster and other previously exempt stations on the London Waterloo line.

A Network Railcard costs £25 for 12 months and gives holders a third off on train tickets within a specified area during specified times.

A number of passengers have contacted Pulman's View since the timetable changed in December, saying they can't use their card on services towards London until the 10.06am departure.

Before the timetable change, the card was accepted for travel on the 8.57am train to London.

The people Pulman's View spoke to thought they would be able to use the card on the 9.06am service following the timetable change — but they have been told they must wait until the 10.06am train.

In effect, this means that people travelling to London, for example, will arrive about an hour later compared to previous arrangements.

A South West Trains spokesperson explained the decision by saying: "The Network Railcard is not bespoke to South West Trains, and one condition is that you can only use it after 10am (Monday-Friday).

"An easement [special arrangement] was set up many years ago which meant we allowed it a little earlier than 10am because of the limited service from Axminster."

Before the new rail loop was opened and an hourly service introduced, there was a gap of almost two hours between the 8.57am departure and the next train — which is why the special arrangement was agreed.

But Network Railcard terms from Axminster and other previously exempt stations have now been put in line with the 10am rule according to the spokesperson.

High hopes for sale cash

LITTLETOWN Primary School, Honiton Bottom Road, Honiton, will be holding a table top sale to raise funds for children's play equipment and a school production.

The event will take place from 10am until 12noon on Saturday, February 27th.

This is the first fundraiser organised by the primary school's newly formed Parents, Teachers and Friends

Association (PTFA) group and they are hoping for a large turnout.

A spokesman for the PTFA said: "The PTFA are raising funds for children's play equipment and the school production of Oliver, which is due to be shown in the summer term.

"Please support the PTFA's first fund raising event at the school, where there will be a variety of stalls and refreshments and cakes will be served."

Anna to lend a green hand to schoolchildren

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@tindlenews.co.uk

A GARDEN centre is offering to send one of its experts to school gardening clubs in the area free of charge.

Many schools have gardening clubs, and Otter Nurseries has stepped forward to offer clubs help, guidance or inspiration with their gardening projects this year.

The help comes in the shape of Anna Childs, a horticulturist who is volunteering to visit local schools.

A company spokesperson said: "Anna will make herself available through February to offer design and general gardening advice, although her speciality at Otter is wildlife displays.

"This could prove extremely useful to both educate children as to what the best plants are for attracting and keeping wildlife in the garden and also to retain their interest by adding variety and creating a quest, for what wildlife they may spot.

"As part of the commitment from Otter, who have a silver level accreditation from the Devon Wildlife Trust, they will make a second visit during the year (once you are part of the scheme) to make sure things are going as planned."

Places are limited, so those interested should register with Matt Wintle of Otter Nurseries on 01404 816808 or e-mail him at matt.wintle@otternurseries.co.uk as soon as possible.

Farmers seeking to diversify asked to consider woodfuel

THE Forestry Commission is recommending farmers seeking to diversify business to consider the woodfuel market.

Demand for wood in the form of logs, pellets or chips has increased as a result of more and more woodfuel boilers being installed across the UK.

Mark Prior, who is the Forestry Commission's woodfuel officer for South West England, said: "There are commercial opportunities for farmers all along the woodfuel supply chain, from managing woodlands, through to diversifying into turning some of the timber into a source of energy.

"More rural estates, farms and rural businesses are using woodfuel to heat their buildings, so there is a growing demand for locally-produced woodfuel.

"It provides a market for the lower quality produce, making the management of woodland more economically viable.

"Our regional woodfuel officers can advise you on the latest opportunities available locally, including training courses, grants for equipment and wood supply networks."

More details are available online at www.forestry.gov.uk/woodfuel.

Business forum to elect new officers

HONITON is the place for the East Devon Business Forum annual general meeting on Thursday, February 4th, starting at 6pm.

The meeting will take place in East Devon Business Centre and the agenda features the election of officers for the coming year.

The Forum consists of representatives from the East Devon Association of Chambers of Commerce, East Devon branch of the Federation of Small Businesses, East Devon branch of the National Farmers Union, Blackdown Hills Business Association and East Devon District Council including the leader of the council and the economy and regeneration portfolio holder.

Current vice-chairman Angela Wright MBE and Crealy Great Adventure Parks MD said: "East Devon Business Forum is a vital organisation committed to developing the economy of the area stretching from Honiton to Exeter and Sidmouth.

"By working together, the public and private sector combine forces to ensure that improvements and progress is consistently achieved.

"The annual meeting is an important date in our calendar particularly this year when the posts of chairman, vice-chairman and honorary secretary are open for nomination."

Controversial homes plan in hamlet gets green light

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@tindlenews.co.uk

CONTROVERSIAL plans to build four properties at Waggs Plot, near Axminster, have been given the go-ahead despite the concerns of residents in the tiny east Devon hamlet.

The plan was submitted by East Devon District Council (EDDC) at the beginning of December last year and has this week been given approval.

All the properties will be two bedrooomed and will be available as social rented housing, adding to the district council's current housing stock.

A spokesman for Charles E Ware and Son, the agent acting for EDDC, said: "The site is surrounded on two sides by houses in both council and private ownership and on the other two sides by open countryside.

"The heating and hot water in the houses will be provided using green technology in the form of air source heat pumps. Four off road parking spaces will be provided as part of the development, one for each house."

Waggs Plot is currently home to around 20 families and several have expressed their concerns about the development.

Jo Birnie, of Waggs Plot, said: "At present there are 12 properties in the cul-de-sac. Of these, 11 have residents with one or more cars. Of these, only four have off road parking. Parking can be an issue at times. Any additional housing would have to have their own ample parking places off road.

"I understand that there is a need for additional housing in east Devon and I understand that there is a patch of ground suitable for building on in Waggs Plot. However, it is land that our children play safely on.

"There are several families with children in Waggs Plot and that land is a safe place where they can all play together. Outside play in a safe environment is a rare and precious thing these days. If you (EDDC) intend to allow building work to go ahead what land will you provide provide for the children to play on?"

Martin Apsey, of Waggs Plot, said: "The first thing that concerns me is where are the people who live in these proposed houses going to park their cars? This is a rural area and the only access to public transport is approximately a walk of 1/4 of a mile, along a road with no pedestrian walkways and used by large vehicles, this means owning a car is important as Waggs Plot has no amenities of its own.

"The second thing that concerns me is the sewage works itself. If you are aware, when the new sewage tank was put in it was discovered that the sewage system for the whole of Waggs Plot was in need of replacing.

"This has not yet been done so the addition of four more houses to this system is going to cause many more problems to an already strained system."

Richard Larcombe, also of Waggs Plot, added that he was unsure about the application and said there could be potential problems with parking and drainage.

All Saints Parish Council has given its support to the application. In a statement sent to the EDDC planning department a spokesman for the parish council said: "The parish council supports the application. But, would it be possible to site the houses further back on the plot?"

"With additional houses comes additional vehicles. Could provision be made for a lay-by to be constructed in front of the proposed development therefore giving additional parking and easier access."

The Highways Authority has also given the plan the thumbs up providing the access road to the site is maintained.

TONY JACKSON

Reader's notes on 'her' birds

PULMAN'S View reader Kathy Hackman has just sent me some notes and interesting observations on "her" garden birds seen during the recent snowy spell.

She noted that blackbird numbers quadrupled, with a great deal of squabbling amongst the cock birds, and confirmed my comment that blue tits were greatly reduced, perhaps due to exhaustion trying to locate food sources during the freeze.

However, she also enjoyed the sight of 50-plus redwings in her garden all week, supplemented by several fieldfares which came and went. The redwings consumed food from dawn to dusk, so placing Kathy on serious food patrol. They, like the blackbirds also spent much time squabbling amongst themselves, but abruptly departed when the weather deteriorated even further.

Now, with the milder weather normality has returned and the usual suspects, robins, blackbirds, sparrows, wrens and goldfinches are all back on the feeders, and I have just spotted several blue-tits. However, more cold weather is forecast so bird-table supplies may have to be topped up again.

Do fish feel pain and distress when removed from their natural environment? I ask the question because I increasingly find that the sight of flapping, gasping sea fish, seen so often on television food programmes relating to the sea, is increasingly unpleasant. These are still living creatures, yet they are treated with no respect or regard, but merely allowed to suffocate to death or even, as I suspect in some cases, eviscerated whilst still alive.

We would not treat warm-blooded animals in this fashion yet because the fish can make no sound and is cold-blooded it is treated with no sense of humanity. The practicalities of killing large hauls of fish may be extremely difficult, though the use of electricity might be considered, but I still detest the sight of fish being allowed to die over an extended time. Amateur sea-anglers can be just as callous, tossing just caught mackerel into a box where they wriggle themselves to death.

However, whilst sea fish will continue to be treated as unfeeling insensate objects, it is at least good to know that following the passing of the Marine and Coastal Act, over the next five years urgent action will be taken to try and turn this country's over-fished and under-protected seas into a thriving marine environment. All the Wildlife Trusts are working across the UK at a local level to protect and raise awareness of our marine wildlife and habitats and unless serious progress is made... and this may impinge on commercial fishing... fish once considered commonplace, such as cod, will have vanished and our waters will become increasingly barren and bereft of life.

The conservation area which has been imposed round Lundy has proved highly successful and is a clear indication that given protection life quickly returns to waters which have formerly been over-exploited. The basic problem is that the commercial fishing industry, in this country and abroad, is pursuing its own self-destruction by over-fishing and through the disgraceful practice of throwing back dead fish which are too small. If commercial fish were given a moratorium in selected areas to restore stocks then there might be some hope for the sea-fishing industry.

The problem is world-wide and is now affecting deep sea fish which, because they live in darkness and near freezing temperatures, have little food and are slow to mature. One fish, for instance, an orange roughy, appearing on some supermarket slabs, may be 30 to 40 years old. Many species of shark are being caught, simply to have their fins sliced off and are then thrown back alive to sink to the sea-bed unable to swim. Whales are still being killed by the Japanese, despite their spurious claims relating to research.

Because we do not see beneath the waves, we tend to assume all is well. It is not!

Tea and questions about Christianity

BOSTON Tea Party, High Street, Honiton, will be the venue for a new event called Christianity Explored starting on Thursday, February 25th.

The course has been organised by Honiton Evangelical Congregational Church.

It will run on six successive Thursday mornings, from 9.30am until 10.45am, and there is no cost for those wishing to take part. A free drink and cake will be provided.

Peter Robinson, one of the course organisers, said: "The event is aimed at those who have questions about the Christian faith or just want to brush up on the basics. It explores who Jesus is, why he came and what it means to follow him."

Spaces are limited, anyone who would like more information should contact Mr Robinson on 01404 46503. Alternatively visit www.christianityexplored.org.

Protect, not destroy, our countryside

EDITOR — Thank you for giving such prominence to the controversial plan to put up large 80ft wind turbines in Luppitt on the Blackdown Hills, an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), in Pulman's View.

This is a matter which concerns everyone who knows and loves the Blackdowns Hills or indeed anyone who believes AONBs should be protected from development.

The people who have already expressed disquiet at this proposal — and there are rather more than your report suggests — have raised a number of issues; for example, the potential precedent that this application might set if granted for other areas in the hills; the fact that the noise created by such turbines when in use is considerable — recent reports show that the decibel levels indicated in official figures have been suppressed; that no environmental impact study has been completed for this application despite the location in an AONB — or had not when first submitted; and that these turbines act as giant scarecrows to birds of prey and migratory birds.

We need to be proactive in creating sources of alternative energy, but we also need to find solutions that suit the particular location, not spoil the environment for those who live and visit that location or for its wildlife.

Politicians' fairytales fail to impress OAPs

EDITOR — The fairytales and false promises have begun as politicians on all sides try to impress older persons with what they have in store for us, should they be elected.

They are still not listening to what is being said and have not learnt the mistrust that we feel for them.

Similarly organisations speaking on behalf of older people have issued what they feel are the problems that affect pensioners and the like.

Help the Aged, Age Concern and

Saga — as a result of surveys and research they have done along with the National Pensioner's Convention, Devon Pensioner's Action Forum and other forums nationally — have all sent out manifestos setting out what is expected from the next government.

All are generally agreed, but when it comes down to the detail there are differences that enable those politicians who are promising us the world to say, 'those campaigning for an increase in the pension cannot agree amongst themselves and so we have the excuse not to listen'.

It could be so easy for all pensioner groups to get together and speak with one voice and so come up with a national pensioner manifesto that parliamentary candidates cannot ignore because it is representative of all those working for a fairer return for present day pensioners and those of the future.

We often say that governments lack the political will to do things. We need the political will to all get together and do this.

It will be a long time before we have the chance again to show politicians they are our representatives and should be acting upon our instructions and their consciences and not some party machine.

'You cannot be serious', says resident over plans fiasco

EDITOR — The only thing which fits the Seaton planning fiasco is One Foot in the Grave's famous saying: 'You cannot be serious'.

It really doesn't matter which way they do the infill the land is not a suitable site for building on.

As for bringing in infill from the sea, has anyone realised that it will be slurry that they pump in, anything larger than gravel will not pump.

The sand and gravel from the sea bed has to be mixed with lots of water so that it moves down the pipe.

How is this water to escape leaving the gravel in place.

Where is the pipe going to go to get from the sea to the site? It is a considerable distance from the beach or even the harbour.

It is all very well to say the pipe will extend 1.5km out to sea, that is a minor detail.

How it is going to get to the site will have a major impact on everyone in Seaton, but for the people in Harbour Road it doesn't bear thinking about. The noise and mess will be horrendous.

I have watched this being done on the east coast where they have blown in new beaches to protect the sea walls and to delay coastal erosion.

There, the slurry is blown straight on to the beach, the extra water can drain straight back into the sea. The noise is tremendous, the mess incredible but most of it is removed with the next high tide, that can't happen on land.

Is there going to be a retaining wall to stop the slurry from running away all over the marshes? If they do that, where and how is the extra water to get out and back to the sea or anywhere else without contaminating the surrounding area?

I really wonder if the planning people at EDDC do any thinking at all.

This site was always unsuitable for major development. The Environment Agency states quite clearly that flood plains should not be built upon.

End of story I would have said especially after all the floods we have had this year.

*Mrs Marilyn Coates

Thanks for 'topping up'

EDITOR — I write as chairman of Dalwood Parish Council.

May I express appreciation to who ever it may concern, for the way our sand and salt boxes were replenished, very frequently.

I spoke to one group who were 'topping up' the boxes and they said that people were taking the grit and selling it on.

They were not referring to this parish, but a town. I was made aware of one of the boxes in our parish being raided by someone taking three plastic bag-fulls away.

The idea of the availability is to endeavour to make highways safer and more accessible, not, I assume, a private driveway.

Maybe they considered their needs greater?

Artist displays her technique

AXMINSTER Art Society met in Musbury Village Hall on Wednesday, January 20th for a lecture and demonstration by the well-known artist Marilyn Allis, on the subject of Putting People into Pictures in Water-Colour.

There was a very attentive audience of about 45 members and visitors.

As she prepared to paint a scene in a French market Marilyn told us that, for a water-colour like this, she prefers to use fairly rough paper and quite large brushes.

Starting with a pencil sketch, she went on to paint a scene of stalls attended by a variety of figures.

She painted the distant background fairly lightly and the foreground more darkly keeping the darker areas a bit smaller than reality, to make for a lighter picture and used a small fan to blow the paint dry before painting in the human figures.

She explained which colours she used for these and they rapidly came to life in their market surroundings.

To draw people accurately she told us, she does a pencil drawing and studies it for a few days before painting it — the important thing in drawing figures is to get the shapes right.

Details are less important. Marilyn also painted a beach scene with donkey riders.

The next meeting will be on February 17th with Graham Cox demonstrating Moody Views in Pastel. Visitors are welcome.

Books fly off shelves

AN Axminster bookshop made a roaring trade when invaded by pupils from St Mary's Primary School on Thursday, January 28th.

The school's library has been revamped and the parents, teachers and friends association came up with money for new library books.

As a result, a number of pupils went to Archway Bookshop for some retail therapy.

The school's literary co-ordinator, Louise Perks, said: "Some pupils are enthusiastic book readers, others are more reluctant. This is to inspire them to enjoy books."

Winning heifer sells

ON Thursday, December 10th Axminster Young Farmers had their dairy heifers show and sale.

It was held at Exeter Market where the young farmers joined Kivells with their dairy heifer sale.

Out of Axminster Young Farmers, Mark Herrod came first with his heifer Bettiscombe Final Cut Daisy 11 and Phil Humphreys came second.

Mark then entered the Kivells heifer show and sale and came first, winning overall champion, and also winning a prize for the heifer with the best udder.

When Mr Herrod sold his heifer, she made an amazing £3,600.

Axminster Young Farmers thanked everyone who attended the show and sale, and to Kivells for inviting the young farmers to join in with their show and sale.

Also a big thank you was given to everyone who took part and sponsored the young farmers in the Boxing Day dip at Seaton.

DOUBLE AWARD WINNING FURNITURE INDUSTRY RETAILER AND NATIONAL BED FEDERATION RETAILER

Adam urges youngsters to speak up over travel issues

COLYTON Grammar School student Adam Ward is urging youngsters to have their say on local transport issues.

As previously reported in this newspaper, Adam is the Member of Youth Parliament for Mid and East Devon and recently took part in a televised event as part of the youth parliament's Get on Board campaign.

The campaign is aimed at ensuring that 16 to 18 years old pay a child's fare on public buses at weekends and throughout August.

Adam and other youngsters involved with the youth parliament were filmed by ITV on Saturday, January 16th, at Devon County Hall, Exeter. Adam said: "The day went really well. Thank you to everyone who donated tickets for the bus collage. The bus will be at Exeter Guildhall Shopping Centre on Saturday, March 6th. Come along and comment about transport issues."

Half-term tickets and first on new Roman ride

GREAT CREALY PARK PRIZE UP FOR GRABS

DEVON'S Crealy Great Adventure Park — the South West's favourite family attraction has a fantastic half-term offer for readers.

Crealy's famous rollercoaster has been rethemed and upgraded and due to reopen on Saturday, February 13th.

Pulman's View has teamed up with Crealy to offer a family ticket for four plus the chance to be one of the first to ride Maximus the Roman coaster!

If the winner visits Crealy on February 13th, they are offered the chance to ride on the park's brand new roller coaster on its launch ride.

Departing from the ancient Roman buildings, jump aboard Maximus the Roman Coaster and hold on tight!

The four-tonne Maximus races at high speed along the 205metre-long track, reaching a height of 8.5metres before shuttling through drops and twists.

Maximus the Roman Coaster pays homage to the legendary land of Crealy, 2,000 years ago when Romans lived in Isca, as Exeter was known then.

Half-term at Crealy also means the whole park is open daily, except the summer-only water attractions.

With three huge indoor play areas crammed full of drop slides, aerial walkways, soft play, climbing nets, toddler-only areas, plus dinosaurs and great rides, Crealy is the region's favourite all-weather attraction.

There are acres of outdoor adventures too, with the county's biggest rides and exciting attractions to explore.

For further information and to save money online visit www.crealy.co.uk or call 01395 233200.

To be in with a chance of winning the family ticket for four and to be one of the first to ride Maximus the Roman Coaster, simply answer the following question:

Q: When the Romans lived in Exeter, 2,000 years ago, what was the city known as?

Send your full name, postal address and telephone contact number, along with the answer to the question, to: Crealy Competition, Pulman's View, Tindle House, South Street, Axminster, Devon EX13 5AD to reach us no later than 11am on Wednesday, February 10th 2010.

Terms and conditions: The prize cannot be exchanged or refunded. The editor's decision is final.

VALENTINE'S DAY is just around the corner; if you are considering buying a lingerie gift for your girlfriend or wife why not visit Silk Stocking in Seaton. Shirley and the team will help you choose something she will love and in the correct size!

The ranges available include pretty embroidered lingerie sets in a variety of colours and styles, sized from 28-50 AA-K, there is so much choice there will be no problem finding something she would like. Nightwear is also a popular gift choice; the lines available offer something for everyone and include 100% silk or satin chemises and wraps, black, red or pink are the favourite colours.

Hence the name, Silk Stocking also stocks a range of classic silky stockings, a truly luxurious choice for a gift. The two colours are nude or black and are sized according to height. Other hosiery choices include patterned or fishnet hold up's, tights and stockings.

Shirley offers an exchange or a full refund on returned goods within twenty-eight days of purchase, if in perfect condition. A gift-wrapping service is available. If you don't feel confident in choosing something yourself why not treat your special someone to a Silk Stocking gift voucher to any desired amount. For further details pop into the shop or call 01297 24440 and Shirley and the team will be happy to advise you.

the churches

With Nigel Speller

AFTER Christmas quite often many of us find ourselves with new books to read. Although that season seems a long way past, I plead an excuse as the book I am going to mention has no less than 1,161 pages! And it came my way this year as a present.

It is A History of Christianity by Diarmaid MacCulloch and is currently being featured on BBC2 TV on Saturday evenings. The book describes not only the main ideas and personalities of Christian history, its organization and spirituality, but also how it has changed politics, sex and human society. The Bishop of Exeter has commended this book, amongst others, to his Diocese.

For good measure, Channel 4 on Sunday evenings has just launched a new series entitled The Bible: A History. In this series seven commentators offer personal views on history contained in the Bible. They describe how the story remains central to the human imagination and survives despite opposite views.

It is well known that the Church of England is referred to as the 'established church', which in church law is described as "The Church of England established according to the laws of this realm under the Queen's Majesty". This is a mixed blessing; at present it gives the church some two dozen seats for bishops in the House of Lords — Lords Spiritual. It also means that certain church laws have to be passed by parliament before they can be implemented. But it also means that those bishops in the House of Lords (which includes the current Bishop of Exeter) can comment on secular legislation. In a very recent debate, the Lords

Spiritual defeated a government bill which proposed to change the present law which allows religious groups to refuse to hire those whose private conduct is inconsistent with their teaching. The Archbishop of York challenged the government to show where existing law was defective, which they did not do and so they lost the vote.

The churches, along with many charities continue to provide support for the relief of victims of the Haiti earthquake. The young members of Colyton church choir put on a special concert to raise funds. The same church besides having a special collection at a service allocated several hundred pounds from its annual charitable giving budget for this year.

It has already been announced that Colyton church is to hold a flower festival at the end of July, concluding with a Service of Evensong on Sunday, August 1st. The Bishop of Crediton will make a return visit, to this service and bless the completed work of restoration of the West Window.

A week or two back, as Christians, we shared in the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. Each day at 12noon, all people were invited to share in united prayer, with different churches hosting and leading. What a joy it was to share together. Whether Anglicans, Methodists, Catholics, Baptists, Quakers, members of the URC, or members of the Christian Fellowship, we actually have much in common. We all seek to worship, follow and celebrate a risen Christ. Praise God there can be unity in diversity.

We have already referred to Christmas this week but now our thoughts are turning to the Season of Lent which begins on Ash Wednesday, February 17th.

Local churches arrange special services on that day, usually in the evening and there will be additional services throughout Lent so do consult your local church noticeboards. Before we reach the triumph of Easter Day, churches celebrate on Palm Sunday the final entry of Jesus to Jerusalem before his crucifixion. Congregations receive palm crosses on that Sunday, many of which are grown, made and sent to Devon by the English churches in the Diocese of Cyprus and the Gulf. Further details on 01395 269811.

At Musbury church on Sunday, February 7th at 10am the service will be led by the Rector Nicholas Edwards, making a farewell visit.

Other events in the near future include, on St Valentine's Day, a visit from Bishop Bob of Crediton to Southleigh church at 11.15am, who will be joined by members from Branscombe church for this service.

Later the bishop goes on to hold a confirmation service at Honiton in the afternoon. In the evening of the same day there is a Celebration of Relationships at 6.30pm at Colyton church, with refreshments. In the same church on Wednesday, February 10th at 10.30am there will be a coffee break. Then the Mothers' Union Branch meets on Thursday, February 11th at 2.15pm.

Churches that use wireless equipment with public address systems may be affected by government plans to sell off frequencies now used which may mean replacing their equipment. The government has indicated that compensation could be paid but it seems that contact with a local MP may be helpful.

Valley pupil takes control

Shawbury

A FORMER Axe Valley Community College student from Axmouth has been posted to RNAS Yeovilton as an air traffic controller.

Midshipman Sebastian Gamwell, 23, was awarded his graduation certificate after training at a north Shropshire air base.

He joined the Royal Navy in 2009 and has just completed 28 weeks of training at Central Air Traffic Control School, RAF Shawbury, near Shrewsbury.

Sebastian and five other successful course mates received their certificates on January 19th from Group Captain 'Bunny' James, Station Commander RAF Shawbury.

Among the guests was Sebastian's fiancée Shelley Parkes.

AN RAF Shawbury spokesperson said: "Sebastian's course involved training during which he undertook practical training in aerodrome control, which teaches students to control aircraft on and visually within sight of the airfield, and radar control, which enables students to control aircraft out to a range of 40 miles off the airfield.

"In addition to learning practical controlling skills Sebastian undertook classroom study in air traffic control policy, navigation and meteorology.

"Sebastian, who has previously served at the Royal Naval College at Dartmouth, is now posted as a controller, initially under supervision, to RNAS Yeovilton, in Somerset.

"Sebastian's hobbies include running and spear fishing."

Popular sale jumbles on

THE scouts jumble sale in Ottery St Mary is set to continue on Saturday, February 6th.

The most recent sale proved popular according to the organisers and they are hoping for a similar turnout this weekend.

Doors open at 1.30pm and it is being held across three venues in the town - The Institute, Coleridge Pre-School and the Old Boys' School — and all funds raised will go to the scout groups in Ottery.

Admission is free and the organisers say everyone is welcome to attend.

Cinders for silver club

HONITON Pantomime Society will be staging its silver anniversary production of Cinderella and tickets are available now.

The production will be shown at Honiton Community College between Sunday, February 14th, and Saturday, February 21st.

Tickets cost £6 for adults and £2 for children and are available from Honiton Toy Shop.

Pan flies in

PETER Pan will be on show at the Mariners Hall in Beer between Thursday, February 18th, and Saturday, February 20th.

Doors open at 7pm and the show begins at 7.30pm.

Tickets are on sale now at Village Store, the Square, Beer, priced at £7 for adults and £4 for children.

Climax Windows

Problem solving by Climax

Although daylight hours are shorter and winter is with us, the Climax Solar Hot Water system keeps on working. The heat collectors are designed to maximise whatever sunlight is available. With the possibility to fit into almost any existing system with minimum fuss and disruption. NO PROBLEM.

With winter, it is usually the time that flat roof problems appear. With the Climax Sarnafil Flat Roofing having a life expectancy of at least 40 years (certified by the BBA) flat roof problems can be a thing of the past and just a bad memory. PROBLEM SOLVED.

Another problem area for homeowners is usually leaking gutters. With the Climax Continuous Aluminium Gutter, leaks are a thing of the past. The Climax gutter machine is brought to your premises and the gutter is produced to the length that is required in one continuous length with no waste, and in a choice of five colours. ANOTHER PROBLEM SOLVED.

Many homes already have replacement windows in one form or another. With the advent of the new energy rating for windows, Climax are now replacing replacements with their efficient new "A"-rated energy windows. With the latest technology the Climax "A"-rated window actually gains more energy over the year, than it loses. BRILLIANT!

When it comes to choosing a Conservatory for your home, you'll want to know that you will get the best possible choice, the best possible materials with the best possible workmanship. With over 30 years experience. NO PROBLEM.

Weather the winter storms for another 40 years

✓ Our Sarnafil roof membrane is the only flat roof system in the WORLD to achieve  certification for a life expectancy of over 40 years.

✓ Why not convert your garage into a liveable room with our Sarnafil warm roof

✓ Go GREEN use our Sarnafil roof with Blackdowns Sedum planting to achieve a more eco friendly roof

Faraday Stoves

Recent cold hard winters have lead to an increase in demand for the installation of wood burning stoves where there is a long standing reputation for performance and durability and spare parts are readily available.

Faraday Stoves, your local stove and chimney experts for the last 30 years, stock most major brands of stove where there is a long standing reputation for performance and durability and spare parts are readily available.

We would like to emphasise the importance of getting correct advice before buying or installing a stove. The stove should be the right size and output for your room, but most critically, in order to be safe, the stove must be installed in compliance with the building regulations. Faraday Stoves have HETAS qualified engineers with a wealth of experience in giving a safe, reliable, expert service.

Lynman Design

Lynman Design is a family business run by Obray Lyman. They are located in East Devon between Axminster and Honiton and cover the surrounding area including Dorset and Somerset and have even done work as far a field as Berkshire and London.

Obray is a member of the Guild of Master Craftsmen and is dedicated to customer service and quality of workmanship with an unrelenting commitment to detail. As a cabinet and furniture maker/designer, he specialises in solving those difficult storage problems. Many of the houses in Devon have untrue walls or uneven alcoves beside chimneybreasts. It can be difficult to make effective use of this space with freestanding off-the-peg furniture. This is where Obray's skills are truly exemplified. He can design and build you a fitted cabinet, which will look like it's always been a part of your home. Or, he can make a freestanding piece, which you can take with you and hand down for generations.

Obray will help you with design ideas and sketches of what the finished cabinet will look like. He will work with solid wood, veneered panels or whatever materials best fit the project.

To see examples of his work and read testimonials from his many happy customers, please visit his website.

Obray works mostly on commission but also makes and designs his own furniture. His latest Twist table in oak can be viewed at Dandel Gallery in Abbotsbury.

Alexander Paul

Book your spring clean with Alexander Paul Antiques

Spring is a time of rebirth and renewal so now is a wonderful opportunity to bring new life to your old furniture and to brighten up your home.

You would be amazed at the difference a professional re-wax can bring to an antique chest of drawers, a table and chairs or a coffer. Maybe the drawers on the chest don't work any more and your chairs are wobbly, we can fix that too; your table might be marked, sun bleached or too low to get your legs under, these are all complaints that we deal with and resolve on a daily basis. Now is the time to get these little problems sorted out.

French polishing is another of the many skills we have available here for you; both antique and modern furniture can benefit from this and yes we can repolish anything from Ercol to Elizabethan.

Please feel welcome to bring your furniture to us for a free no obligation restoration quote.

This spring will see the launch of Alexander Paul Antiques exciting new range of furniture.

We have a stunning range of bespoke hand crafted (in Devon of course) tables, coffee tables and serving tables for you to choose from in a variety of contemporary finishes.

The tables all come with a most impressive, hand finished, one inch thick slate top.

The slate is sourced from Brazil and combined with either the natural waxed oak finish or the painted finish (in the Farrow and Ball range of colours) the tables are designed to complement either the painted kitchens which have become so popular in recent years or to bring a sophisticated and contemporary look to any other rooms in your home.

The console table shown alongside this article is hand made and hand painted, a quality piece of craftsman built furniture which bucks the trend of the poorly made mass produced junk furniture imported from the far east. The inspiration for the design and proportions of this range of tables is drawn from the finest examples of furniture that have passed through our hands as antique dealers; strong clean lines are always the maxim.

There will be a nation wide product launch in a couple of weeks, but in the mean time you can find out further information at www.slatetoptables.com and order now to beat the rush.

Remember of course that Alexander Paul Antiques are famous for their unsurpassed selection of the ever fashionable and highly desirable Antique French farmhouse tables. Beautiful tables made of glorious woods such as oak, ash, cherry and walnut; tables with a softness and stunning patination that only comes with great age.

Do view our tables at www.alexanderpaulantiques.com or call in to our large showrooms at Fenny Bridges (just west of Honiton on the old A30).

If you think one of our tables would suit your home, we will bring the one you like best out, free of charge, to see if it compliments you home before you choose to buy.

NJ Whittaker Ltd

NJ WHITTAKER remain very busy and are reassured by the number of enquiries they are still receiving. Although the reduction in VAT rate to 15% has been widely criticized as pointless anyone considering extending or renovating their property will save £ 250 for every £10,000 spent so for a bigger outlay there can be a significant saving. Combined with very competitive quotations from builders and historically low interest rates it has never been a better time to invest in your property providing you can get the funding.

HAVE YOU GOT A BUILDING QUESTION YOU NEED ANSWERED?

Each month on our Homes and Interiors feature we shall have a new helpful section with Nick Whittaker of N.J. Whittaker Ltd. in Honiton who is an experienced and fully qualified builder who will answer your questions. This can be anything from DIY queries, a query about new laws and regulations, to a dispute with a builder you have at the moment. Please either email your questions to kelly@pemedial.co.uk or post them to:

Kelly Baker, Lyme Media & Events Ltd.,
Unit 3, St. Michael's Business Centre, Church Street, Lyme Regis, Dorset DT7 3DB.

A question will be picked out and answered each month

THIS MONTH'S QUESTION:

How can I tell if I have a water leak from the pipe coming into my property from the road? - V Gooding

ANSWER:

Take a reading from your water meter, writing down both black and red figures. Make sure all taps and appliances are turned off. Do not use any water for at least an hour. Take another meter reading. If this reading has changed turn off your internal stop tap. If the meter dials are moving you probably have a leak in the pipe connecting your home to the water mains.

PAYHEMBURY - £395,000

DELIGHTFULLY situated on the edge of the highly desirable East Devon village of Payhembury, Berkleigh comprises an attractive detached house believed to date originally from the 1930's although with later additions now resulting in a superb family home.

Set well back from the quiet village road and approached over a private drive, the property has large gardens, the more formal areas to the front containing a number of mature trees and shrubs, whilst an enclosed garden to the rear enjoys a good degree of privacy and views over open countryside, providing a lovely space for family, pets and outdoor entertaining.

The house, which benefits from double glazing and central heating, affords excellent accommodation with a spacious sitting room and a superb kitchen/breakfast room with utility off. The entrance hall provides space for a desk/office area, whilst a large study and snug provide further reception rooms, with a conservatory overlooking the rear gardens and ground floor shower room. On the first floor are four bedrooms, all enjoying lovely views, and a family bathroom. Payhembury itself is ideally located enjoying easy access to both Honiton and Exeter.

Berkleigh is on the market with Sole Agents Greenslade Taylor Hunt with a Guide Price of £395,000. For further details contact the Honiton Office 01404 46222.

T.D.S. or D.P.S.? choose symonds & sampson!

SYMONDS AND SAMPSON are very pleased they chose the Deposit Protection Service (DPS), when the law changed in 2006, making it against the law for Landlords or their Agents to hold Tenants deposits.

The Association of Residential Letting Agents (ARLA) has warned Landlords and Letting Agents, using the Tenancy Deposit Scheme (TDS), that sharp rises in costs are expected this year. This is mainly due to the huge increase in disputes over the last 12 months. The Scheme also allows Letting Agents to pass on their extra costs to their clients.

Saskia Williams, Lettings Manager of Symonds & Sampson in Axminster, states: "The DPS is completely free of charge for all parties and is very straight forward. No legal costs, or extra expenses for registering deposits, are charged to the Landlord or Tenant. The Tenant also receives interest when the deposit is returned.

It is very rare for Symonds and Sampson to experience any deposit disputes. We carry out detailed schedule of conditions, by licensed inventory clerks and our Tenancy Agreements are written by the top lettings Lawyers in the country. We also believe it is essential to match Tenants, Landlords and properties correctly. Compatibility is the key to a smooth running tenancy for all parties involved".

For more information about the DPS, or any of the services offered by Symonds & Sampson, please call Saskia on 01297 32879.

Outlook for 2010

THE housing market has been a bit of a roller-coaster over the last few years, swinging from the extremely buoyant conditions of 2006, through decline and falling prices over 2007 & 2008 and, most recently, the moderate recovery & upsurge over 2009, especially the second half of the year.

The prospects for property in 2010 are quite good, certainly much, much better than this time 12 months ago. Interest rates remain at historically low levels and the Bank of England has indicated that this is unlikely to change in the near future. Mortgage rates have increased a little recently, as lenders seek to offer a slightly more tempting proposition to savers and also to repair their balance sheets following on from the credit crunch. Despite this increase, mortgage rates are still low by historical levels, meaning that mortgage repayments remain manageable. Probably as a result, the predicted flood of repossession properties did not materialise, at least here in the South West. Repossession properties are often in poor condition and are always priced to sell. The much lower than expected number of repossessions meant that the wider market was not influenced by large numbers of very keenly priced properties.

Broadly, conditions for 2010 are good if you are thinking of moving. The advent of the New Year is seeing greater numbers of new properties coming to the market as is customary. This gives a better level of choice for househunters and we will hopefully see the market well balanced between buyers and sellers, a situation that is good for stability, which in turn breeds the confidence that the housing market thrives on.

The facts are that 2009 has seen greater levels of confidence in property amongst the buying public and there is still a real appetite for the homeownership life, as there always has been in this country. All in all, owning your own home is still a good move in the UK. That has been the case in the past, it is the case now and will be so in the future.

Change of Government, Change to CGT?

THE political parties are starting their electioneering in earnest and it appears that the veiled threats of increased taxes will become a reality, writes Ross Willmington of Symonds & Sampson.

Money must be raised to reduce the Government's budget deficit. Expenditure is, reportedly, 15% above income and any Chancellor will need to get the money from somewhere.

Taxing income is only part of the solution; a 50% top rate tax and increases of National Insurance will bring in some money but with unemployment set to rise there is less tax to collect and more money to pay out on benefits.

Capital Gains Tax, therefore, is a potentially obvious target and with an historically low rate of 18% and the availability of Entrepreneurs Relief reducing this to 10% for 'qualifying disposals', there is scope of raising this substantially.

There is talk of a Spring election and a Budget from the present Government just before may not be in their interest but whoever gets into power will certainly set their own terms very quickly.

Any property owner with potential Capital Gains, for example from selling land or buildings, should perhaps consider making sure that transactions take place before 5 April 2010 as normally tax changes take effect in the new financial year.

Mr Willmington recommends therefore that everyone should consider careful tax planning to conclude sales of assets and stay one step ahead of the Chancellor. Changing the Capital Gains Tax Rate back to 40% would mean significant liabilities especially if indexation is not re-introduced.

We recommend therefore that if you need to discuss your options contact Ross Willmington of Symonds & Sampson's Farm Agency Team on 01297 33122.

An African Odyssey in Axmouth

A POWERFUL presentation of the fantastic music of Uganda, with three virtuoso musicians at its core. Their focus is to explore and create new sounds based on the rich traditions of Ugandan folk music. They bring to the stage a selection from the many cultures that fill Uganda with exciting rhythmical traditional music, from the Royal Kabaka court of the Baganda people, Basoga and many more, inspired by dynamic storytelling troubadours, 'rap' and lilting soul and dance music.

Kora player Kinobe Herbert has been touring with musical groups throughout Africa and Europe since age 10 and has played alongside Youssou N'dour, Salif Keita, Angelique Kidjo, Toumani Diabate and Baaba Maal amongst many others. Denis Kigongo learned to play drums and other instruments as a child and is a trained teacher, youth worker and African Educator. Guitarist Michael Ouma has developed his own style of playing acoustic guitar by combining traditional Ugandan rhythms and melodies with western contemporary vibes. Each performance is accompanied by a day-time workshop on Ugandan drumming, music and dance.

Africa Odyssey perform at Axmouth Church on Thursday, February 18th, doors open at 7pm, tickets from 01297 20679 cost £8.

CORSA BACK WITH NEW CREATIVE ROUTE

VAUXHALL is putting the Pop Art into driving with a new creative route for its top selling Corsa.

Building on the success of the previous C'mons creative, the new television campaign takes a style led approach showcasing the car through imagery reminiscent of the Pop Art Movement. Through a mix of static and moving shots, primary colours, the psychedelic 'Run' Gnarlis Barkley soundtrack and the popular C'mons puppets who feature in key elements of the advertisement, the 40 second film helps show how Corsa puts the fun back into driving.

Andy Gilson, Marketing Director for Vauxhall comments on the new creative: 'Corsa remains one of the UK's most popular small cars and we felt that Pop Art would be a great way to communicate the car's style credentials in a fun contemporary way'.

The campaign first appears on television on 1st February 2010 and was created by DLKW London with media planning through Carat. The Pop Art theme will continue throughout the year with further TV, print, online activity and other communication.

CUBE SQUARES THE RESIDUAL VALUE CIRCLE

- Nissan Cube cracks the residual code with strong forecasted values
- Cube predicted to retain 45% of its value after three years/30,000 miles
- Residual Value reflects Cube's position as icon for the Nissan brand
- Built by design connoisseurs for design connoisseurs, Cube is on sale in the UK now

SMALL cars don't have to mean big depreciation, not if they take the right angle... Now that the Cube has gone on sale in the UK, Residual Value experts have made their assessments and delivered the good news – Nissan's quirkiest city car is a Residual Value winner.

Confirming the long lasting appeal of the Cube, the used car professionals at CAP have set the Nissan's Residual Value (RV) prediction at 45%. This means that after three years/30,000 miles the Cube will save a significantly higher proportion of its original value than similarly sized but very differently positioned alternatives.

The Cube sits in the RV tables closer to models that sell on desirability rather than functionality. This matches its role in the Nissan range. The Cube is a model for anyone who desires a different take on the automobile. It challenges convention in every corner of its design, offering a cabin with space for relaxing as well as travelling.

This unique approach to automotive design is the key to the strong RV. The Cube won't flood the market at stacked-high sold-cheap prices – this is a car that will be bought in exclusive numbers by those that appreciate its bold design and youthful approach to city transport.

Nissan's UK MD, Paul Willcox comments: "Depreciation is a crucial factor for any new car buyer to take into consideration before they choose their next new model. While one car might appear to be cheaper, once you have factored in what you are likely to get back when you come to sell, it might not look like such a bargain. The Cube is a quality product and every one will be in demand for many years after it leaves the showroom."

The Cube has a simple line-up with prices starting at £14,000 for the 1.6-litre manual model. The frugal 108bhp petrol engine offers as much as 42.8mpg with emissions as low as 151g/km. A 1.5-litre diesel model will join the range in May.

While the Cube's appeal is unique, it's not the only Nissan to offer such strong Residual Values. The British built Qashqai is a particularly impressive performer, offering the same 45% RV rating as the Cube.

Toyota announces recall campaign In Europe for potential accelerator pedal issue

TOYOTA Motor Europe announced today the recall of 8 Toyota models in Europe, to solve a potential accelerator pedal issue. The involved models and production periods are as follows:

AYGO (Feb 2005 – Aug 2009)
iQ (Nov 2008 – Nov 2009)
Yaris (Nov 2005 – Sep 2009)
Auris (Oct 2006 – 5 Jan 2010)
Corolla (Oct 2006 – Dec 2009)
Verso (Feb 2009 – 5 Jan 2010)
Avensis (Nov 2008 – Dec 2009)
RAV4 (Nov 2005 – Nov 2009)

The precise number of involved units is still under investigation, but may reach up to 1.8 million vehicles. No Lexus models and no other Toyota models are affected.

"Toyota's policy is to put its customers first, in all circumstances", said Tadashi Arashima, President and CEO of Toyota Motor Europe. "We understand that the current situation is creating concerns, and we deeply regret it. We would also like to reassure customers: the potential accelerator pedal issue only occurs in very rare circumstances. The announced action is a preventive measure aimed to guarantee the highest safety standards to all customers."

For subject vehicles, there is a possibility that certain accelerator pedal mechanisms may, in rare instances, mechanically stick in a partially depressed position or return slowly to the idle position.

This issue is caused because the accelerator pedal mechanisms concerned may become worn. This progressive wear, combined with certain operating and environmental conditions, can cause friction in the mechanism to increase and intermittently result in the accelerator pedal being harder to depress, slow to return or, in the worst case, stick in a partially open position.

Toyota has identified a remedy for this issue, and is currently pursuing a final evaluation and confirmation procedure. As soon as the countermeasure is confirmed, Toyota will communicate to all customers and other concerned parties the details of the corrective action and of the implementation procedure.

A running change in production using different parts has already been implemented model-by-model for the models on sale in Europe, as part of Toyota's continuous quality improvement policy. Therefore there is no need or intention to stop production in Europe.

Only a limited number of incidents have been reported in Europe, and Toyota Motor Europe is not aware of any accident resulting from this issue.

Toyota is making every effort to address this situation for our customers as quickly as possible.

Whilst this condition is rare Toyota advises customers who have concerns to contact Toyota GB Customer Relations on 0800 1388 744 for assistance.

UNLIKE OTHER CARS, WE'RE STILL GOING WHEN IT'S SNOWING.

When it comes to shivering true grit in snowy conditions, that's a Subaru to stay the course no matter what.

The quick-thinking All-Wheel Drive system (AWD) enhances straight-line traction and provides sure-footed grip through corners giving Subaru drivers total peace of mind in rain, ice and all source, snow.

And with the option of Subaru's boxer Diesel engine, the world's first horizontally opposed diesel engine, your journey will be smooth, quiet and incredibly responsive, regardless of the road conditions.

In a country always caught out by winter weather, a Subaru just ploughs on regardless.

RUNNING ROUND-UP

◆ HONITON Running Club held their Blackdown Beast run on Saturday morning. The first 6.3 mile section of the run followed a cross country route using seldom used footpaths from the 'Royal Oak' in Dunkswell to Smeatharpe. The event continued for three more sections totalling another 8.5 miles returning them to the Dunkswell pub for a well earned meal. The runners are pictured as they set off from the start of the run. Photo by Colin Bowerman

AXE VALLEY RUNNERS

with Dave Mutter

ON Sunday morning Luke Reed travelled to Exeter for the first race of the Great West Run, Warm-Up Series.

The 5k race for runners of all abilities started as scheduled at 9.30 am with the temperature around three degrees below zero. Five minutes into the race the snow began to fall, this made conditions for running quite difficult, let alone running fast.

Luke battled against the elements to finish eighth of 76 finishers in 17.49 and reports that he is looking forward to some warmer weather!

HONITON RUNNERS

With Tony Broughton

FOLLOWING the success of last summer's Blackdown Beauty organised by Honiton Running Club, Alan Nicholls had the brain-wave of organising a similar run in the middle of winter! This took place last Saturday and like The Beauty, The Beast was a social run with several stops on route at convenient pubs running predictably through the Blackdown Hills.

The event began and ended at the Royal Oak, Dunkswell with runners' cars taking over the car park for the day. The first stop, after six miles, was not a pub at all but on the terrace of the beautiful Springdale garden in Smeatharpe with mulled cider and hot pasties being served to the grateful runners.

The next stop was the Sidmouth Arms, Upottery and then on to the Lupsett Inn. This is a family run 'pub' which only opens if you happen to strike lucky or you ask very nicely as it is essentially the owner's front room. Mary, the elderly proprietor has been very unwell recently but with help from her family, runners were made welcome despite muddy shoes. It was good to hear Mary is on the mend and she even managed an appearance behind the bar.

The rest of the route was entirely on road, taking in two long steep hills. After these, runners were ready to return to the Royal Oak and much needed sustenance in the form of drink and very reasonably priced food.

The scenery was fantastic and Roger, who works at the Met Office, got his order right with the beautiful weather. Thanks to the many landowners for allowing everyone to pass through their land.

The whole run was 15 miles long, 52 runners and three walkers took part. All runners were back in Dunkswell before 3pm after setting off at 10am and hopefully the walkers finished eventually! Thanks to those Honiton members who did the lion's share of the organisation but special thanks to Alan Nicholls who has moved from the area and will be settling in Wales to be closer to his family. Alan has contributed immensely to the Club and has been awarded life membership.

Golf round-up

AXE CLIFF with Janet Dack

JANUARY MEDAL and COSH H TROPHY.

Division One

THE leaders all came from the early groups. First with nett 67 was B. Kelland. Second, winning on the count-back was S. Mackie with a 58, beating R. Gibbons.

Division Two

J. RUSSELL won Division Two by two shots with a nett 64. Second and winner of the Cosh H was C. Glover with a nett 66 beating new boy T. Phillips also with a nett 66.

Seniors Section

WITH the county still in the grip of winter it is a tribute to Axe Cliff that the Seniors January Medal went ahead on last Friday (January 22nd) with the only a brisk swirling southerly wind causing any problems.

The majority of the 26 competitors coped manfully and until the final trio came in the leader, with a solid 73 nett, was Sid Pember (18).

Suddenly Sid found himself in third position as a 70 nett was carded by the ultimate winner Phil Christmas (26) with Iain Bain (13) taking second place with 72 nett. Two players had 73 nett, with Sid taking third place on the better inward half ruling with Roger Hill (21) the player to miss out.

HONITON with Andy Wagner

Men's Sunday Competition

SOMEHOW, in a moment of weakness, I found myself volunteering to be the club's Press Officer again. Some people never learn do they?

My first assignment was to cover Sunday morning's 'Three Clubs and a Putter' Competition. Thinking about some of the holes I've played I would have been a lot better off just using a putter from the tee.

However, due to an earlier arrangement I was due to be in Yorkshire for the weekend. (We really don't learn do we?) So my problem was how to report on a game I'd had nothing whatever to do with? Never one to shirk a challenge I phoned the Pro to ask him to get the Captain to let me have a list of the winners. "You're in luck Andy! There's no game due to an earlier snow fall covering the course!" So you all have a week's grace before I start reporting properly again.

Tuesday Mixed

THIS week was the Drawn Greensomes Stableford playing for the Goblets. In a bitter cold wind over 20 hardy members walked the fairways. In first place with 33 pts winning on the back 9 were Gerda Brown and Paul Witton. 2nd place also 33 pts were Linda and John Northover. 3rd place with 32 pts were Lady vice-captain Sue Ritchie and John Frith. The new Lady captain Elizabeth Ward presented the prizes.

Ladies Report

The Ladies played a 10 hole, four Clubs and a Putter, Shotgun Start, drawn for partners on arrival, Individual Stableford for the first competition of the new Lady captain Elizabeth Ward's year. Ladies were divided into three divisions for the prizes.

The prize table was beautifully arranged by Elizabeth and she presented the prizes as follows: Silver Division winner with 21 pts Maureen McIlveen. 2nd - 20 pts on c/ b Chris Pearce. 3rd also 20 pts Anne Davies. 4th - 19 pts. Diana Gee. 5th - 18 pts Elizabeth Davies.

Bronze 1 - winner with 23 pts Chris Luttman. 2nd - 22 pts Catherine Doherty. 3rd - 20 pts on c/b Jeanne MacKinnon. 4th also 20 pts Thelma Neate. 5th - 19 pts Rosemary Greenhorn.

Bronze 2 - winner with 23 pts Jean Moon. 2nd - 20 pts on c/b Susan Hyde. 3rd also 20 pts Betty Weedon. 4th - 19 pts Anne Verplank. 5th - 18 pts Lesley Oxenham. Lady captain then presented all the ladies who had taken part with a gift and complimentary drink.

Seniors Report

IT was with a sigh of relief that captain Ben Laite led the Seniors out for a Medal competition this week, the first time it has been possible to play on Friday this year albeit with a number of temporary greens.

Some creaking bones were in evidence but not for Brian Elkington who snatched victory in Division One on countback with a net 70 just edging out John Dickinson, Adrian Williams and Bob Cleal all with the same score. Vice-captain Bill Nicholls completed the prize winning positions with a net 71 although a missed putt for a two on the fourth hole proved costly as John Bevan recorded the only two of the day and scooped up all 57 balls on offer.

In Division Two Steve Blundell was a clear winner with a net 68 and took home the tankard for the overall monthly medal winner together with his prize. Malcolm Matthews on 70, John Ward 70, Bob Milton 71 and Mike Jones on 72 were the other prize winners.

Next week is the annual Club handicap review so watch out you chaps!

FOOTBALL RESULTS, FIXTURES AND TABLES

Devon & Exeter League

TOPSHAM town won a feisty match at Feniton 3-0 but at 1-0 Fenny had a tremendous free-kick goal from Alex Frankpitt ruled out and that took the sting from the home side.

Sidmouth town cantered to a 5-0 victory at Otterton which puts them within reach of the leaders. Dan Taverner scored the vikings first-half goal but the second-half produced a feast as Ben Ashford (2), Billy Jaworski and Andy Isaacs found the target.

Willand Rovers edged the battle of the two promoted teams 3-2 at Alphonington. Dean Stamp with a brace and Karl Kirby with the winner scored for Willand.

Seaton Town regained top spot in Division 1 after coming from two down at the bottom club Culm Utd (see match reports).

Heavitree Social were unable to play their game against Beer as Wingfield Park was frozen, and that enabled Cullompton Rangers to slip into second place after their narrow 2-1 win against Sidbury.

Match Reports

Culm Utd 2 Seaton Town 4

HAVING enjoyed the majority of the possession and failing to score Seaton Town became anxious and started taking unnecessary risks at the back as they pushed for the opening goal, needless to say they were duly punished.

On the 30th minute a mix-up between Ede, and centre-backs Perham and Wyatt presented the Culm hitman Adam Pengelly an easy chance to fire past the recalled Dan Stapleton. Culm scored a second through Paul Orchard following more proof defending by the greens. Towards the end of the half Seaton had a blatant penalty turned down and had to settle for a half-time score of 2-0.

After a half-time dressing down by their manager the Seaton youngsters came flying out the traps and found themselves back in the game through former Yeovil Town youth teamer Robbie Fellingham who curled a delightful left foot shot from 20 yards out that whipped passed the home keeper.

This was the tonic the greens needed and they continued to out play their opponents and in the 65th minute Bradley Groves scored his seventh goal of the season. With their third shot of the game Culm hit the post however keeper Stapleton was alert enough to smother the rebound.

The final 20 minutes of the game was the Ben Ede show. The Seaton skipper scored two of the best goals you are likely to see all season. With 70 minutes played Ede received the ball 30 yards out before chipping the keeper, with the ball nestling in the top right hand corner of the goal both sets of players were left stunned. Ede continued to dominate proceedings and with five minutes remaining he nearly bettered his earlier strike, smashing the ball into the to right hand corner of the goal from 20 yards out past the despairing dive of the Culm keeper. On the final whistle the majority of the Culm players made their way to congratulate Ede for his stunning performance.

Man-of-the-Match: Ben Ede

Team: Stapleton, Fellingham, Cross, Wyatt, Perham, French, Ede, Durrant, Alphonice, Groves, Vere. Used Subs: C.Clarke, J.Hayes

Offwell 3 Bampton 0

A VERY impressive 3-0 win over a strong Bampton side put Offwell back in the Division Four promotion frame.

Euan Carnelley put them one up at the break after they had dominated the first-half. They hit the post and had several chances saved by the Bampton keeper.

The second-half saw a much closer game but Offwell scored twice more through Andy Lord and James Dingle to seal a well deserved win and three points.

Manager Nick Ogden was very proud of his team saying: "The first-half was one of our best all season, our passing, movement and organisation was spot on. We defended and attacked as a unit and the pass that set up the second goal was exquisite from Lewis Couch, to have that vision is one thing but to execute it in a game takes a very talented player."

"The whole team deserve credit for a sound effort and clean sheet, but my MoM goes to Brett Sellick in his first start in the first team this season, I don't think he missed a challenge all game".

Ogden also gave special praise to referee Viv Cooke who he thought handled the game perfectly. Next week they travel to Seaton in what Ogden expects to be a tough match.

RUGBY ROUND-UP

HONITON 10pts TOTNES 10pts

ALLHALLOWS was very much on the sticky side for this game against the league leaders. Honiton played down the slope in the first period and certainly held the early initiative, retaining possession and handling well.

While having the better of things however, and winning the territorial battle, Honiton rarely really threatened and the game remained scoreless at the end of the first quarter and, for the most part, defences were on top generally.

With twenty five minutes gone however, a wayward kick from the Totnes outside half was gathered at pace on their ten yard line by Webber the home left winger. His diagonal run, shaking a couple of tackles, turned the defence and he finally linked with Dobson on the other wing who scored five yards in from touch. The try remained unconverted.

Thereafter the remainder of the half belonged to Honiton. They pushed a five yard scrum to their opponents' line, forcing the Totnes eight to concede a penalty. They scrummed the award and sent the ball left and, Dobson was tackled into touch just short. Totnes managed to clear but the respite was only temporary for, in the next home attack Dobson appeared to have scored a perfectly good try, only for the referee to be unsighted.

Therefore the score remained at 5-0 in home favour until the halfway stage, and one wondered if it would be enough to see them to the win.

Totnes got a score back via a penalty goal

with Keith Jenkin

within five minutes of the restart. The home side came back within five minutes of the restart however, scoring a good try. Their pack drove into the Totnes twenty five, recycled and sent the ball wide through quick hands, eventually leaving skipper Hannay to execute an overlap on the left. He took the tackle and fed Webber and he touched down some ten yards in from touch. This try too remained unconverted but, nevertheless it gave Honiton a 10-3 lead.

At the last, Totnes, who had only threatened briefly thus far, made a break and, to my mind, scored a try under the posts. The referee again thought otherwise however and awarded a penalty to Totnes that puzzled me a bit. The award was scrummed and Totnes duly won it, only for an interception in midfield by Honiton to take play back to halfway.

Totnes mounted one last attack however, kicked a penalty to the corner and rolled the ensuing maul over the home line for the try. The conversion was needed to tie the game and it was not an easy one. The Totnes kicker held his nerve and trusted his method however and the ball bisected the uprights, depriving Honiton of the win that for much of the game had looked likely.

HONITON NETBALL

DIVISION ONE

FLAMINGOS A kept up their momentum at the head of the table when they met bottom of the table Complete Meats.

With Teresa Youens in fine form they were on top from the start and ended the game comfortable winners at 50-22, a win that saw them go five points clear of Angels, but having played three games more. This defeat saw Meats still looking for their first win of the season and four points adrift of Bo-Peeps in seventh place.

HWB GOLF SOCIETY PRESENTATIONS

◆ HONITON Wine Bar Golf Society marked the end of their first year with a gala dinner and prize giving evening at the Honiton Wine Bar.

The society was formed early in 2009 to bring together friends on a monthly basis for a great day's golf on a variety of superb local courses. 'The society epitomises the ethos of the Wine Bar', says Proprietor Graham Quinlan. 'We have an emphasis on fun and enjoyment and welcome players of all abilities. Pictured, from left to right, is Chris DeLarge, Winner 2009, Secretary Terry Sharp and Captain 2010 John Greengrass.

AS gold stays high, there are many companies advertising on TV asking for you to post your gold. Some have even hired celebrities to try and convince the public to trust sending gold by post. Most of these companies will not give a price per gramme over the phone, and you don't know what you're getting until the cheque eventually arrives. In fact it's almost impossible to actually get to talk to anyone, they just have an automated phone system asking for your name and address. Be very careful, many pay very low rates.
